

About our cover

Our cover features Afro-Latinos from different Latin American countries. Their diversity is inclusive of nationality gender, age and socialization. These photographs were taken by Carlos Flores, Puerto Rican and a native of Chicago. Carlos Flores is an artist of many talents and is active in local politics and cultural programming. We are thankful for his contributions to this issue of Diálogo which provided the foundation to further develop our theme. The individuals on this cover indeed represent the "beautiful faces of our black people."

Diálogo (ISSN 1090-4972) is published twice a year by the Center for Latino Research (CLR) of DePaul University. Copyright® 1997 by the CLR, DePaul University. Materials from this publication may not be reproduced without permission from the CLR.
