

CHICAGO AREA CONSORTIUM
IN GERMAN PHILOSOPHY
WORKSHOP

KANT'S THEORETICAL PHILOSOPHY

Dorothy Day Room
Richardson Library
DePaul University
Lincoln Park Campus

March 31, 2017

10:00 Chair: Steve Narragon, Manchester University

Daniel Sutherland, University of Illinois at Chicago, “Kant on Pure and Applied Mathematics”

Commentator: Warren Wilson, University of Chicago

11:30 Chair: Sean Ebels Duggan, Northwestern University

Yoon Choi, Marquette University, “Kant and the Spontaneity of the Understanding”

Commentator: Chen Liang, University of Illinois at Chicago

1:00-2:30 Lunch (see Lunch Guide and Map)

2:30 Chair: Karl Ameriks, University of Notre Dame

Jacqueline Mariña, Purdue University, “The Second Analogy and the Motion of the Subject”

Commentator: Morganna Lambeth, Northwestern University

4:00 Chair: Nataliya Palatnik, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee

Avery Goldman, DePaul University, “Kant on Leibniz: Disentangling the Principle of Sufficient Reason from the Principle of the Identity of Indiscernibles”

Commentator: Kyoungnam (Kay) Park, Loyola University of Chicago

5:30 Conclusion